

Must Make Them a Home.

John P. Culver made application to the circuit court for an order to compel Jennie Culver, his divorced wife, to give him the custody of the children which are kept at the Children's Home. He desires to have their care and will keep them at the home of his mother. The children were in the court room with Miss Bradley, the matron of the home. J. W. Adams appeared for the mother and children and F. E. Knappen for the father. After considerable testimony Judge Buck ordered that the children should remain under the mother's care and that within six months she should remove them from the Children's Home and provide them a home with her. Otherwise they should go to the father's care at the end of that time. A large number of friends of the parties were present in court during the hearing of the case.
